

Marcus Acaster

Entrepreneur, group benefits brokerage • Grew up in North Vancouver

Marcus is a local entrepreneur and spent the first 18 years of his life within walking distance of Parkgate, and still calls North Vancouver home. Marcus went to Blueridge Elementary and Windsor Secondary in North Vancouver before moving to Ontario to complete his degree in economics at Queen's University. Marcus operates a group benefits brokerage that helps small businesses provide benefits for their employees, and has experience volunteering with groups such as Big Brothers. Marcus hopes that he can give back to the community he grew up in and help bring new programs to Parkgate. In his free time, Marcus enjoys walking his dog, golfing, and playing hockey.
